

First non-tax producing advertisers, political organizations and charities, are allowed exemptions and continue to advertise via telemarketing. Now the FTC/FCC has the gall to propose that TV and Radio stations should also have exemptions. I feel that the list itself is unconstitutional and the exemptions are examples of favoritism in advertising. Hopefully, the Supreme Court will declare the list unconstitutional. Regardless, the exemptions should be taken away from political organizations and charities for if the law is constitutional then all should follow it. Exemptions should definitely not be added to TV and Radio stations as they are already receiving the advertising dollars redirected from telemarketing. Finally, I cannot believe that my government has spent the vast amount of time and money on this list to merely stop some calls while costing the economy billions of dollars in the process.
